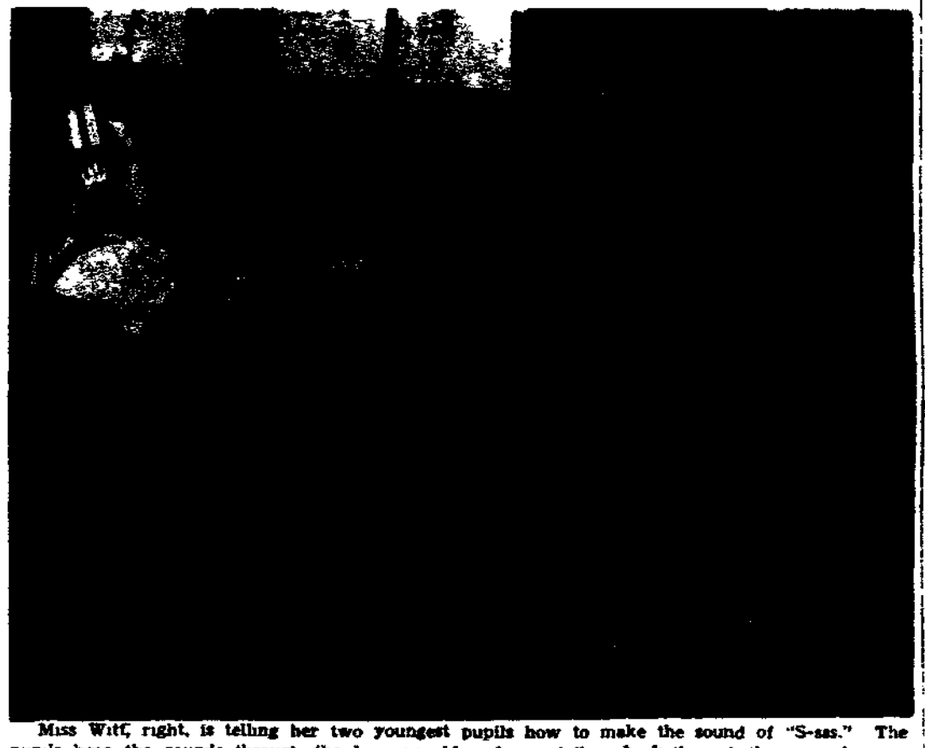
THREE DEAD IN HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS

Class for Hard of Hearing Pupils Finishes Its First Four Months in Marion Schools

—Photos by Stewart

"We're all in our places with bright smiling faces"—the traditional "good morning song" from grammar school days fittingly describes these six happy pupils of the hard of hearing class at Pearl Street school. Miss Jean Witt, instructor of the class, stands at right. The light colored machine just to the rear of the two pupils in the right foreground is the amplifier. The dark machine on which Miss Witt rests her hand is the $300 portable radio phonograph donated the class by the Altrusa club.



Miss Witt, right, is telling her two youngest pupils how to make the sound of "S-sss." The pupils hear the sounds through the hearing aid and repeat them back through the microphone so others in the class can hear. On the blackboard rail is shown the mirror used so the children can see whether their lips are properly placed for the correct pronunciation.

Value of New Training Proved in Opening Period; Modern Methods Used.

By SCOTT McMURRAY

The little red school house was never like this

Newest special training aid in Marion city schools the hard of hearing class one of 20 such classes in Ohio has just finished its first four months operations at Pearl Street school

Along with the sight-saving class and crippled children's class at George Washington school and the activities class at Silver Street school, the hard of hearing class offers Marion school pupils the best rounded instruction courses using the latest and best equipment and the highest type of special teaching available to any student in any school in Ohio

Marion school officials have left nothing undone to make sure that physically impaired children, regardless of the nature of their handicap have every opportunity to get the same chance to learn as their more fortunate fellow students

Miss Jean Witt instructor for the hard of hearing class, has 12 students receiving training this semester Students' ages range between 6 and 13 years while their school classes vary from first through seventh grades

Latest Modern Equipment

A thousand dollars' worth of special sound equipment of the very latest type, much of it the same as was featured in a recent scientific picture story in Life magazine, is used to make learning easier for school students with impaired hearing

Miss Witt received special instruction in teaching hard of hearing students in the Speech and Hearing Center at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, operated under auspices of the Cleveland Community Fund There she majored in the study of lip reading and speech correction, the subjects which form the basis of instruction at the hard of hearing school here

A former first grade teacher, she is also a veteran of the Red Cross hospital service in World War II.

She says no totally deaf pupils are accepted for instruction in the class. Such cases are sent to the state school maintained for them in Columbus

Speech Correction Important

Most persons evince the greatest interest in lip reading courses While these are of great assistance to the deaf child, not only during his school years but in later life, but the speech correction course is rated just as beneficial to the student, if not more so

A key problem facing instructors of deaf children is the inability of many such children to pronounce words correctly The child cannot pronounce certain sounds because in some cases he has never heard them because of impaired hearing Add to this circumstance the fact the child cannot usually hear what he himself is saying and the result is mispronunciation of many common words

To know when he is making a sound correctly the child must be able to hear that sound regardless of his degree of deafness Here the special amplification equipment used for classroom work in the hard of hearing school plays an important role This equipment the latest known to science, installed in early September of this year makes it possible for a child with a 95 per cent hearing deficiency to hear clearly, distinctly and normally anything the instructor says Any spoken word radio program or phonograph record played into this amplifying system may be varied in tone and volume by the student to meet his own individual requirements Volume is adjustable to a different degree in each individual ear as the degree of deafness is often different in each ear of a deafened person

Class Room Arrangement

A hard of hearing classroom resembles nothing so much as a classroom for advanced communications students because of the presence of so much electronic equipment

Each student sits at an individual table type desk with a pair of special earphones on, a microphone in front of him and a volume control panel with one red and one black dial (to adjust volume for each ear) mounted on the side of his desk.

Miss Witt, carrying a portable microphone, addresses her pupils over the amplifying system., in reality a giant hearing aid giving them regular instruction in lip reading, and speech correction Lip reading may be taught in classroom groups but because of the different degrees of deafness, age, and varying other factors in individual students, speech correction is given individually to each student. The happy smile on the face of a student is a joy to behold when he or she has mastered a new sound or learned to say correctly some word which has always been difficult to say The student sees

UN TOLD DUTCH HAVE NOT YET OBEYED ORDER

Troops Still Fighting in Java While Holland Considers Cease Fire Order.

PARIS Dec 27 (AP) Dutch delegate Jan Herman Van Royen told the United Nations security council today Holland has not yet complied with the council's Christmas Eve order to stop the fighting in Indonesia.

Van Royen reading a prepared statement by the Netherlands government said Holland has given the council order its 'serious consideration but is still studying its position with regard to it

He declared the operational phase of the Dutch campaign on Java has now practically come to an end, and said "whether and how far clashes with irregular armed bands can be avoided cannot be predicted with certainty"

Soviet Delegate Speaks

Immediately after Van Royen finished, Soviet Delegate Jacob A Malik asserted the Netherlands statement constituted a "straightforward refusal to end the fighting"

Malik said that in the interval between the adoption of the resolution and today's meeting the Dutch had taken no step to halt their "campaign of aggression."

Malik demanded that the council forthwith order the Netherlands government to halt military operations within 24 hours.

Ukrainian delegate Vasili A Tarasenko, who today returned from the United States for this current session, assailed the council's Dec 24 resolution as "only a green light to aggression" He urged the council to order the withdrawal of Dutch troops to positions they occupied before the current operations.

The Ukrain's delegate proposed a resolution declaring it to be "indispensable" for Netherlands troops to be withdrawn immediately to their previous posts

The Russian resolution submitted by Malik would put the security council on record as noting that the Netherlands government "has not yet halted its military operations against the Indonesian Republic"

Indian delegate M J Desai, recalling that the council resolution had ordeded the immediate cessation of hostilities and the immediate release or all Indonesian officials seized by Dutch troops, said that the Dutch statement failed to fulfill the resolution on both points

Van Royen told the council that the Dutch government would guarantee full freedom to Indonesia

Van Royen said Holland had released 14 prominent Indonesian Republicans, members of the Indonesian delegation to the UN truce commission in Batavia, following the councils' resolution, and would release others later.

HUNGARIAN REDS ARREST CARDINAL

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec 27—(AP)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Catholic primate of Hungary, was arrested this morning

An official announcement from the ministry of interior said the cardinal was accused of espionage, treason and black market currency dealings

(Vatican city sources said they had not heard of the cardinal's report arrest They added it "would be no surprise' if such a step were taken by the Hungarian government which recently has been tightening its restrictions against the Catholic church

(Recent reports at the Vatican said Hungarian police had placed a close watch on the primate's home)

Mindszenty long has been under fire on charges that he misuses religious meetings to incite against Hungary's present Communist-dominated political system.

Last month the primate was assailed by Premier Lajos Dinnyes as a "reactionary". The premier declared that the Hungarian people would not tolerate reaction

"They are determined to break reaction," the premier said, "whether in the form of the purple of bishops or the sabotage of the Kulaks"

A hint of reprisals against the Catholic church was given last month when Erno Gero, Communist minister of transport, warned that the "liquidation of clerical reaction" was imminent in Hungary

Gero declared Mindszenty was "the head of reaction," and added "the liquidation of clerical reaction is now the order of the day"

The Hungarian clergy rallied to the primate's support. On Nov 5 all Hungary's Catholic bishops issued a statement deploring "with disgust and grief that unfair attacks have regularly befallen" Mindszenty.

Sumner Welles Found Half Frozen in Field

WASHINGTON Dec 27 (AP) Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, was found unconscious in an overflowed Maryland field yesterday, his fingers and toes frozen

He remained in a serious condition today from "severe exposure and shock"

Welles apparently had lain in the field for several hours The temperature was about 15 degrees above zero when he was found

The 58-year-old former diplomat an insomnia sufferer for years frequently took walks late at night to help him get to sleep

Welles regained consciousness yesterday afternoon but was unable to say what had happened, his physician, Dr George R Huffman said

The doctor added it was said be a day or two before he would know whether any of Welles fingers or toes might have to be amputated

Circumstances indicated that Welles left his estate at nearby Oxon Hill Md, in the early hours of Sunday

A son Arnold Welles said the family believes he suffered a heart attack while out walking He was stricken with a heart ailment 18 years ago and has been under treatment for it since then

Friends also reported that Welles has been upset by the death in New York Dec 20 of Laurence Duggan a close personal friend Duggan, a protege of Welles in the state department, was killed when he fell or jumped from his 18th floor office window

After Duggan's death it was disclosed that his name had been linked with the current investigation of Communist spy activity in the state department 10 years ago Welles thereupon issued a statement in which he called Duggan an absolutely loyal public servant. Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Attorney General Clark, among others, also vouched for Duggan's loyalty

A 10-year-old boy, Robert Kerby, first saw Welles lying in the field about a mile from the imposing Welles' manor house Robert was returning from mass with his family

Dr. Huffman said there was no evidence of violence Scratches on Welles' face and hands apparently came from rocks and bushes, the doctor said

He added that the fur collared coat which Welles wore "probably saved his life"

PEACE HOPES FADE IN CHINA

Reds Scotch Hopes by Promising Prosecution of "War Criminals."

NANKING, Dec 27—(AP)—Hopes for peace in China faded today

Communist radio broadcast of a list of "war criminals" to be punished by a 'peoples court sent them glimmering

Heading the list were Chiang Kai-shek Madame Chiang, Premier Sun Fo and most of the nation's top military and poutical leaders.

Surprise that the Communists would publish such a list at this time, when there seemed a possibility of the warring factions reaching some sort of agreement, was expressed in both foreign and Chinese quarters.

'Communists by their action have definitely closed the door on any hope of ending the war by negotiation" said one official.

Troops To Fight On

His statement was echoed by the arrival of more troops in Nanking indicating that Chiang and his followers have determined to fight on possibly turning the capitol into the next battleground

In view of the Communist radio declaration, it seems unlikely that any of the national officials listed would participate in any peace negotiation and the only avenues left to them is to fight or flee.

ABOARD U S S SAIPAN EN ROUTE TO GREENLAND, Dec 27—Slowed almost to a snail's pace by lashing winds, this carrier hoped for better weather today as it ploughed on toward Greenland to attempt the rescue of 13 stranded Air Force men.

The Saipan, which left Norfolk Saturday, is due off the rescue launching point Wednesday Even with improved weather, however, there is doubt that it can keep that schedule.

The Saipan was moving along at 27 knots (more than 30 m p h) until it encountered winds up to around 100 miles an hour yesterday

The skipper, Capt. Joseph L. Kane, first ordered the carrier slowed to 22 knots.

The storm roared on and at 6 p m., Kane reduced speed to 15 knots. Still later he cut down to 10 knots

Better weather was expected today But it seemed likely to get worse again when the Saipan passes Cape Race, possibly tonight

While the Saipan took a fierce battering, five helicopters and two torpedo bombers lashed down with cables on the hanger deck escaped damage

The ship's doctor reported a third of the crew seasick

The storm swept away five of the eight big radio antennas mounted on the flight deck. Another was left dangling and unusable Communications were maintained with the remaining three.

Fourteen life rafts broke loose from their chains under the flight deck and plunged into the frigid sea.

The Saipan itself escaped damage

Through it all officers in charge of "operation ice cap" continued confident that their helicopters can effect the rescue of the stranded airmen

OK PLAN TO PREVENT GERMANY REARMING

BERLIN, Dec. 27—(AP)—A long range plan to prevent German rearmament is reported to have been agreed on by the United States, France and Britain.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, said last night the three western occupation powers had reached "substantial agreement" on creation of a "military security board."

Clay disclosed in a radio interview that the western powers have been working on creation of such a board. The discussions heretofore have been top secret.

Other courses disclosed that the intended duties of the board are to make sure that Germany remains disarmed after the military governments stop functioning.

As the military governments of the three western powers in Germany are reduced, the military security board will take over many of their functions. The board is expected to have military inspection police who will search for violations of disarmament regulations.

It was announced last week that the American military government would make drastic cuts in personnel during the coming year.

Clay also said that recovery in western Germany "has been amazing" since currency reform was instituted last June but that the three western occupation zones still are far from becoming self-sufficient.

Toledo, Findlay Families in Crash

Donald T. Wolfe, state editor of The Toledo Blade, was one of five persons injured in a two-car headon collision four miles south of Kenton at 6:45 p. m., Saturday.

The injured are: Donald T. Wolfe, of Toledo, cuts and bruises; Mrs. Lida Talbert of near Findlay, fractures of both legs; her husband, Harry Talbert of near Findlay, cuts and bruises; Mr. Wolfe's wife, Mrs. Ester Mae Wolfe of Toledo, cuts and bruises, and their son, Donald, aged 7, bruises.

They were taken by Price ambulance of Kenton to the San Antonio hospital of the same city and all but Mrs. Talbert were treated and released. Her condition is reported as satisfactory today.

CHINA

Communist publication of the list and a subsequent proclamation making frequent references to a "peoples government" strengthened the belief the Reds have decided against permitting the present constitutional government to continue in any form—even under a negotiated peace which would give the Communists control of China. Instead, it is believed by most observers the Communist high command hopes to completely eliminate the national government and substitute its own.

Hope They Can Hold

From a study of recent troop movements, it seems that the government is hopeful of holding the Nanking-Shanghai area indefinitely with its west flank beginning on the Wuho river, 50 miles westward of Nanking, and extending southward along the former Wuho-Hangchow rail line. The railroad now operates only between Wuho and Nanking.

Meager reports reaching here late today said that fierce fighting raged north of Kaiyu, 60 miles northeast of Nanking.

A British psychologist claims that you can control bugs by your will power. At first glance this seems to be as revolutionary as a revolving door, but the good doctor reports he was able to make insects move in a certain direction by concentrating on the direction for 15 seconds. He'd be a great man to take along on a picnic. Personally, we don't feel any vital urge to "will" a fly to leave town if we can eliminate him with a flyswatter. Mind over mosquito may be scientifically possible, but we'd be a bit dubious about trying it. What's to keep the mosquito from willing his stinger into an unsuspecting arm while we're concentrating?

Students To Help In Comic Book Clean-up

ST. PAUL—(UP)—High school students have been called in as consulting experts in St. Paul's war on trashy-type comic books.

A crimes comic book committee is writing a program to eliminate the more garnish of this brand of literature from the reading fare of the city's younger set. The high school students have been asked to evaluate the committee's proposed set of standards for judging the quality of the books.

The standards include the following points:

1—Comic books should entertain, interest, educate, excite and stimulate in a "wholesome" manner.

2—They should show respect for moral law for religious, racial and national groups, and should emphasize the principles of U. S. democracy.

3—Characters should be such that if imitated by their readers, they would contribute to the general welfare.

4—Crime criminals and guns should not be made attractive; police and law should be

VAUGHAN

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"I will get the boys immediately, Mr. Graham," Faith said with no suggestion of mirth in her voice, although I knew that ordinarily she would have exploded with laughter at her father's gibe. But she patently was playing her role of nurse with the seriousness of a 'real trouper.'

"May I get them for you, Fa—Nurse?" Mary said, switching from Faith's name to her assumed title quickly.

"Thank you, Mrs. Veritzen," Faith said. "That will be very kind of you. I do not like to leave my patient just now."

I could imagine Dicky's twitching lips, but did not need to use my imagination for Mary's. She came through the door with shoulders shaking, and closing it after her, leaned against it, laughing silently but heartily.

"Faith is 'shamming' her lines all over the living room," she said. "Did you hear her?"

"We did," I told her. "We also heard your uncle's demand for the boys. So you'd better escort them back without delay."

"Fall into line, men!" Mary told the boys with a grin, and the next second they were through the door and walking rapidly toward Dicky's couch.

"You're neglecting me!" Dicky told them, accusingly. "Here I crave conversation, light, airy and amusing, and what do I get from you? Silence behind a closed door. By the way, where's your mother? I'll bet she was in this somewhere."

"She was," Junior said promptly. "There was something she wanted us to do."

"Out at the farm, when we get there," Roderick took up the improvisation promptly. "It's something quite important, and she wanted us to have a chance to think it over."

"Does she want me to help you?" Faith asked eagerly, forgetting for the instant her role of nurse.

"I do not think so, Nurse Graham," Roderick said, emphasizing the title.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, then spoke with decision.

"I shouldn't have time for anything else beside my patient," she said.

"I should hope not," Dicky said emphatically. "I need constant attention. Ah, there you are, Mrs. Graham." He digressed as I came into the room. "I suppose, as head of the hospital, your time is taken up with patients in a more serious condition than mine. But I've missed you. By the way, has it ever struck you how odd it is that your name and that of my nurse should be the same as mine?"

I heard a quickly suppressed giggle from Faith, but spared her the embarrassment of even a quick glance.

"Merely a coincidence," I told him. "There are a great many Grahams in the world. Now, Nurse, does your patient need you for the next five minutes?"

Faith considered the question gravely.

"No," she said at last, "unless he should need a glass of water or something like that, and I am sure Mrs. Veritzen could get him anything he wished."

"Then," I said in my starchiest manner, "I should like to see you for a few minutes in my office."

Bowl Odds Ignore Grid Statistics

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—Ignoring the wizards of odds makers took a little thing like a 35-point lead in their way when they said Oregon was the favorites for last Saturday's bowl games.

The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, which specializes in such things, has ground out another batch of figures sizing up participants in some of the main post-season football attractions.

These statistics show among other things, that five of the eight teams which have been rated underdogs in the bigger bowls actually have better offensive records than their favored adversaries.

This is true in the cases of California in the Rose Bowl, Oklahoma in the Sugar, Oregon in the Cotton, Oklahoma A. and M. in the Delta and Wake Forest in the Dixie.

Three Exceptions

The exceptions—that is chosen elevens with superior attacking records—are Georgia in the Orange, Missouri in the Gator and Nevada in the Harbor Bowl.

The NCAR listed records of teams in two other bowls—the Salad and Sun—on which no odds have been announced.

In these, Arizona and Texas mines have done more with the football than their rivals of the day—Drake and West Virginia, in that order.

The boys who have made Northwestern a 6½-point choice over unblemished California in Pasadena's Rose Bowl didn't take too much stock in the fact that the Bears moved the ball farther both by land and air the past season than did Northwestern—and also scored more points.

California's average yardage per game was 372.6 yards compared with 287 for the Wildcats. The Bears scored 277 points to 171 for Northwestern.

A similar situation exists in the Sugar bowl where Oklahoma takes one of the best offensive marks in the country only to find itself a 1½ point underdog against North Carolina.

The Sooners averaged 380.2 yards a game, 296.4 by rushing, while North Carolina's average was 303.9. Oklahoma registered 336 points for the year, their Dixie rivals 255.

One TD Favorite

Southern Methodist is a 6½ point favorite over Oregon at Dallas although the Webfoots ran and passed the ball an average of 337.9 yards a game compared with the Mustangs 318.9. SMU scored the most points, however—229 to 194.

Oklahoma A. and M. had a better ground track than William and Mary in ground gaining and scoring but the Indians are favored in their clash at Memphis by six points.

In the Dixie bowl at Birmingham, Baylor is rated six points better than a Wake Forest team that has average nearly 100 yards more a game and scored 215 points to 147.

Georgia, a 7-point choice over Texas at Miami, leads the Longhorns in every offensive phase except rushing. Nevada figured three points better than Villanova, has a wide statistical edge over its Harbor bowl foe. Missouri's ground gaining and scoring achievements are also better than those of unbeaten, untied Clemson, the team it's figured to whip by seven points at Jacksonville.

FIRST TOUCHDOWN. Huey Keeney, Rice institute back, breaks the sigh from the three yard line to score the first touchdown for the Grays in the Blue-Gray football game at Montgomery, Ala. Other players shown are Dan Dworsky (48), Michigan back, Robert Heck (28), Purdue end and George Brown (19), Texas Christian guard. The Blues won 19 to 13.

DONOHOE TO QUIT CARNEGIE TECH JOB

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27—(UP)—After three years in which his teams absorbed regular beatings almost every time out, William W. (Will Bill) Donoboe was on his way out today as football and basketball coach at Carnegie Tech.

Tech officials announced that Donoboe had submitted his resignation from both posts to take effect on July 1.

Working under Tech's program of de-emphasis of sports, Donoboe saw his football teams win only one game in three years, that a 7-0 upset of Grove City in the final game of the season just concluded. His basketball teams have fared only slightly better, winning nine and losting 34.

Donoboe said he had been seeking another position but was still without further commitments. Tech athletic director Clarence Overend said no consideration had yet been given to his successor.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

NEWARK, O., Dec. 27—William S. Moore, president of William S. Moore, Inc., announced the declaration of a dividend of 15 cents per share payable Dec. 30 to common stockholders of record at the close of business on Dec. 15. Mr. Moore further announced a favorable increase in the company's sales for the year 1948.

OWU'S JUD MILLHON TOP SHARPSHOOTER

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—Ohio Wesleyan's sharpshooter, Jud Millhon, has the best field goal percentage among small college basketball players. He has hit 38 times out of 68 attempts for a remarkable .559 average, National Collegiate Athletic Bureau figures show. He is followed by Tom Carlson of Washburn, with 22 out of 40 for .550, and Tom Wilson of Troy State (Ala.), with 25 out of 47 for .532.

The top defensive team among the small college quintets through the first weeks of the season is Mount Union of Ohio, which has limited opponents to an average of 35.8 points a game in four starts.

John Wilson of Anderson (Ind.) is averaging 26.8 points a game to lead the individual scoring parade.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau figures, including games through Dec. 18, give Wilson a slight advantage over last year's point making champion, Nate De Long of River Falls (Wis.)

De Long has a 26-point average—one better than that owned by Silas Davis of Morehouse (Ga.) who has played only one game.

Wilson also has the best score for a single game—46 against Adrian.

Charles Tobin of St. Anselm's (N.H.) is the free throw leader with a perfect score—10 goals in 10 tries for 1.000. Joe Hafele of Evansville, with 20 out of 21 for .952, is runnerup.

U.S. Gridders Beat Hawaii Team, 14 to 0

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27—(AP)—The United States entry is winner of the first International Amateur Football Federation championship. The U. S. gridders beat Hawaii 14-0 here yesterday. Two Pepperdine college backs did most of the damage. Terry Bell raced 64 yards for one score, and Ed Hyduke plowed seven yards for the other. Harry Beck booted both extra points.

Many Mathematicians Convene at Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Dec. 27—(AP)—Some 1,000 mathematicians are expected today to begin six concurrent meetings at Ohio State university.

Among them will be some of the foremost men in the field, including Prof. Herman Weyl of the Institute of Advanced Study, Princeton university, Prof. Einar Hille of Yale university, Prof. Laberto Cesari of the University of Bologna, Italy, and Prof. S. Eilenberg of Columbia.

Two special conferences today, one of analysis" and the other on "group theory," are part of OSU's 27th anniversary celebration.

They will be headed by Professors Cesari, Ellenberg and Marshall Hall Jr., of Ohio State's mathematics faculty.

Four mathematical organizations have scheduled sessions for late in the week. There will include the 55th annual meeting of the American Mathematical Society which will take place Tuesday through Thursday, the ninth Christmas conference of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the 32nd meeting of the Mathematical Association of America.

Wildcats Favored To Whip Bears 7 Points

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 27—(AP)—California's unbeaten Golden Bears move into the Rose Bowl sector today, ready for the final tuneup before tangling with the Northwestern Wildcats in the third renewal of the Big Nine Pacific Coast conference postseason series.

This 1948 Golden Bear is a large, rugged critter who rolled up 277 points against 10 opponents, including Navy by a 21-7 count and a weak Big Nine eleven from Madison, Wis., by 40-14.

It has three dangerous backs in Jackie Jensen, Jack Swaner and Billy Main; a powerful line that averages 213 pounds from end to end, including Frank Van Deren and John Cunningham on the wings and All-America Rod Franz and giant Jon Baker at the guards.

It has lost but one game in two seasons to Southern California in 1947—but the Bears arrive at nearby Riverside today to find Northwestern favored to whip them New Year's day.

Northwestern has been installed as a seven-point favorite, a margin that brought this reaction from the NU coach, Bob Voights.

"That is silly in several ways—including the fact that California has such a fine record in Rose Bowl games."

So it has. Back in 1921, an underrated California team defeated, 28 to 0, a great champion from the then Big Ten, Ohio State.

The next year 11 iron men, playing 60-minute ball for Washington and Jefferson, held the vaunted wonder team to a scoreless tie, and in 1929 came the Georgia Tech 8-7 trick win in the famous but unfortunate wrong-way run of a great center, Roy Riegels.

Cal outplayed the Engineers, but Riegel's reverse gallop to fame set up a safety for Georgia Tech early in the second quarter. It proved to be the margin of an 8-7 defeat instead of what might have been a 7-6 victory.

The Big Blue team from Berkeley came back to the Bowl in 1938, to trim the Crimson Tide of Alabama, 13-0.

Two victories, a somewhat freakish defeat and a tie against a team that just wouldn't quit. Voights wasn't kidding when he called the Bears' Rose Bowl record something to think about.

BOWLING RESULTS

The Christmas week surely brought in its share of top-notch bowlers as 33 games of 200 or more were registered in the Classic league Thursday night. Leo Oberlander copped all the honors, though, as he bowled a high game of 244 and other singles of 212 and 204 for an eye-opening 660 series total. In the same loop Lloyd Johnson shot 217 and 225, collecting 638 for the series. Don Greenland 221 and 231 for 635. Ew Stewart 223 and 203 for 610. Lee Schuler 235 and 221 for 607, and John Parshall 200, 201, and 202 for 603 for three games.

In the Fraternal league Lavalley led in single games with a score of 231 while Ulsh was tops for the series with 541. Denaugh topped men in the Huber Bowling league for singles with 210 and Seiter was ahead for three games, bowling 560. Zeigler led women in both departments of the Huber loop with 194 single and 513 series scores. Honors in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies league were taken with scores of 179 single and 528 series, rolled by Samples and Stephenson, respectively.

Edler had the highest of the men's single games in the Marion Engineer Depot Mixed loop, hitting 210 while Hecker led men for three games with 535. Ruhl topped women in both departments as she hit for 177 single and 477 series.

Santa Anita Opens Season Tomorrow

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 27—(AP)—Santa Anita Park opens its 12th turf season tomorrow with the $50,000 added California Breeders Champion Stakes touching off a $750,000 outlay of stakes purses for the 50 day meeting. A field of 12 home grown horses is expected. Highlights of the meeting will be the track's famed trio of $100,000 stakes, the Big Handicap, Derby and Maturity.

Michigan State College can field an entire football team of Flint, Mich., boys with the exception of one guard post.

SCHNITTKER-BORYLA DUEL SEEN TONIGHT

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 27—(INS)—A scoring duel between Ohio State's Dick Schnittker and Denver's Olympic great, Vince "Bullets" Boryla, will probably feature tonight's tilt between the Bucks and the Pioneers in the Grand Canyon state.

Christmas turkey was served in a hurry as the Buckeyes rested for their fourth win in five starts in this their last game on their western swing.

They got off to a good start, racking up two wins over Butler (60-48) and Marquette (72-67) but then they met the Oklahoma Sooners and suffered a 64-55 clipping.

Bounding back on the balls of their basketball brogans the Bucks blinked the California Bears twice by 74-60 and 68-64 tallings.

The Ohio ace—Schnittker that is—has tallied an average of 20-and-a-half points per game this year. This puts him in the same league as the Pioneer's Boryla, 6-foot-six center, who has an average of 25.8 points for four games.

Backing Schnittker on the OSU side of the boards will be Bob Donham. Bob Raidiger, Gene Brown and Bob Burkholder.

Williams Chosen Fighter of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—Lightweight champ Ike Williams and rookie Rocky Castellani have won Ring Magazine's two major boxing awards for 1948.

Williams, unbeaten in 10 starts including three title defenses during the year, was named "fighter of the year" in a copyright story by editor Nat Fleischer appearing in the February issue of Ring. The capable Trenton, N. J., ring mat[illegible]

Castellani, a rangy middleweight prospect from Luzerne, Pa., who rocketed into the headlines during 1948 has been tabbed "rookie of the year." This award was originated by Ring last year when Laverne Roach of Plainview, Tex., was the winner.

Marcel Cerdan's exciting knockout victory over Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., to win the middleweight championship drew double recognition. The Frenchman was given the Nat Fleischer medal for an outstanding performance and the Cerdan-Zale battle was ranked "fight of the year."

Round #1 of the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott rematch in which the heavyweight champion knocked out Jersey Joe was called "round of the year."

The biggest surprise, according to Ring, was Sandy Saddler's knockout victory over Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., to snatch the world featherweight title. The lean New York Negro was about a 4 to 1 underdog against Pep.

The ring rankings for 1948, announced in the same issue, list three standout champions. They are Louis, Williams and welterweight king Ray Robinson. In suggesting cures for boxing ills in 1949, however, Robinson was advised to give up his 147-pound title and campaign in the middleweight class. Robinson has had trouble making the weight.

Walcott, the Camden, N. J., veteran who twice fought Louis, and Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati are ranked top challengers in the heavyweight class. Another group includes Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., Johnny Flynn of Rochester, N. Y., Joey Maxim and Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland, Joe Kahut of Portland, Ore., and others.

Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside Park, N. J., is No. 1 contender for Freddie Mills of England, who lifted his light heavyweight crown last summer.

Public Construction Up Sharply in Ohio

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—Ohio's public construction expenditures were up 30 per cent this year over 1947—with the money emphasis on schools and highways.

This was the word yesterday from the federal works agency. It reported Ohio's state and local public construction bill for the first nine months of 1948 ran to $103,961,000 in contracts let. For the same period last year the total was $68,121,000.

Highway contracts, taking up $47,421,000 for the first 10 months of this year, were the state's heaviest expense. For the same period last year they ran $33,210,000.

School construction, second on the list, came to $25,384,000 through September, 1948, compared to $10,529,000 in the first nine months of last year.

Of this year's highway contracts, $34,913,000 was under the state highway department and $12,508,000 under county and municipal governments.

Ohio is rated seventh in the country for public construction contracts awarded in the first three quarters of this year. In school and highway contracts alone, however, it is fifth.

J. W. Follin, assistant administrator of the works agency, estimated the public construction bill for the entire country will come to about $4,050,000,000 for 1948. He said it probably would be up 25 per cent next year for a total of $5,000,000,000.

For next year, he said he foresaw a "sharp increase" in school and public hospital construction and a "sizeable increase" in flood control, navigation and reclamation projects.

States doing more than Ohio in road construction this year were Pennsylvania, $129,079,000; New York, $88,673,000; Texas, $82,261,000 and California, $73,155,000.

Highway contracts for the first ten months of 1948 in states near Ohio included: Michigan, $35,620,000; Indiana, $23,049,000; Kentucky, $18,023,000; West Virginia, $13,366,000.

DEATH RIDES SANTA'S SLEIGH

3 in Family Die Mysteriously Awaiting Arrival of Christmas.

BIG BEAR, Calif., Dec. 27—(AP)—The table was set for Santa Claus, but death came instead for young Dr. Jerome G. Schnedorf, two of his children and his mother.

Their bodies were found yesterday among Christmas decorations and unopened presents in their rented mountain cabin. While the cause of death remained an official mystery, theories of possible carbon monoxide poisoning from a gas heater or that the heater burned up the oxygen supply was advanced.

Victims of the Yuletide tragedy were Dr. Schnedorf, 35, of Santa Barbara, Calif.; his son, Tommy, three; his daughter, Judy, eight; and his mother, Mrs. Josephine Schnedorf, 64, of River Forest, Ill.

Discovered by Wife

The bodies were discovered by the physician's wife, Mrs. Mary Margaret Schnedorf, 37, when she awoke from a coma of more than 30 hours. She and the eldest child, Jerry, 10, were found in a rear bedroom and thus narrowly escaped the fate of the others.

On a table, in keeping with an old world Christmas custom, a plate was set for Santa Claus. Next to it was a note in an envelope addressed to the three children. It read:

"Dear Judy, Jerry and Tom, it was too cold to bring a baby girl kitten and female canary to Big Bear Lake. With this letter you can get a bird and kitty later if you are good.

"So tell your mother and dad, and to all a good night. Thank you for the milk and steak. It was very good. —Santa Claus."

Preliminary autopsy by Dr. C. S. Small disclosed no evidence of monoxide "or any other poisoning," but chemical analyses of the bodies today was expected to shed light on the mystery.

Sheriff's Deputy Kendall Stone said he found a butane gas heater burning, but added that the high-banked snow may have stopped up one or more of the vents.

Taken To Hospital

The doctor's wife and the surviving child were taken to San Bernardino county hospital. The boy is in critical condition.

Mrs. Schnedorf was able to tell investigators this story:

Her husband's mother arrived at Santa Barbara last Tuesday and they all went up to the rented mountain cabin here Thursday. They spent most of Friday decorating the tree and wrapping presents. They ate dinner early Christmas eve and went to bed at 9:30, leaving a turkey ready for roasting in the oven.

That was the last she remembered—until she awoke at dawn the morning after Christmas. Her weak cries brought neighbors who summoned officers.

The father was found in a chair before the tree. The other bodies were on beds.

Pair Treated at Hospital and Released.

Four minor fires for the holiday weekend were reported today by the fire department.

A coal pile at the Marion Power Shovel Co. plant caught fire at 12:45 p. m. Saturday and burned for 50 minutes before firemen from the West Center street station extinguished the blaze. The cause of the fire is unknown. Damage was reported as minor.

Norman Thrush and Owen Hughes of 962 Bryant street received second degree hand burns when they attempted to kindle a fire with gasoline at 10:30 a. m. Saturday, firemen reported. They were treated at City hospital and released. The fire was out upon the arrival of Chief O. A. Sifritt's car.

Sparks from a washing machine motor set spilled gasoline on fire at the home of Carl Newell of 446 Davids street at 4:02 p. m. Friday. Damage was estimated at $10 and firemen from the Central station and West Center street station answered the call.

At 3:40 p. m. yesterday a car owned by C. E. Harris of 402¼ West Center street caught fire in front of his home when a hot motor caused wiring to ignite. Damage was minor and the call was answered by firemen from the Central station.

1. Any lump or thickening, especially of the breast.
2. Irregular bleeding or discharge from any of the body openings.
3. Any sore that does not heal.
4. Persistent indigestion.
5. Sudden changes in the form or growth of a mole or wart.
6. Hoarseness persisting for two or three weeks.
7. Regional pain.

Only in the early stages can cancer be successfully arrested. At the appearance of suspicious symptoms see your doctor at once. For prompt, expert prescription service, call on us.

LABOR-MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE URGED

WASHINGTON Dec 27—(AP)—Proposals that President Truman call a new labor-management conference, despite the almost total failure of his 1945 efforts gained strength today from his council of economic advisers.

Collective bargaining might become a greater force for "labor peace and economic stability," the council said in its annual report, if there were some generally approved "standard of a fair wage" related to a given price structure.

The advisers dwelt at length on the possibility that a second meeting of union and industry leaders might be a starting point for agreement on such standards as a guide in labor negotiations.

These standards would not be binding, they would be primarily "informational in character," the economists told Mr. Truman.

But from them might emerge after a testing period of time and experience, a better reasoned and therefore more workable formulation of wage policies to be applied through collective bargaining."

The report, a forerunner of Mr Truman's economic message to congress due next week, was prepared by the three-member advisory council headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse.

Since the council also supplies Mr Truman with the economic analysis on which he bases his own message, the report issued last night aroused speculation whether the President is weighting invitations to a new conference.

The council did not make a direct recommendation. It noted that the first conference, held only three months after the war, brought "few results."

But the advisers suggested that a new conference might produce some agreement if it were carefully planned.

Public and farm representatives might also attend, it was suggested.

SENATORS DEMAND KOCH BE PUNISHED

WASHINGTON, Dec 27—(AP)—Seven senators joined last night in a formal demand that Ilse Koch be punished anew for her part in the atrocities of Buchenwald concentration camp.

In a report which censured Army officials for reducing her life sentence to four years, the senate investigating committee headed by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) declared:

"It is legally possible Ilse Koch should be brought to justice in a United States military court."

Failing in that, the report said the American military government of occupied Germany should move to have her tried in German courts "for crimes committed against German nationals."

Frau Koch's four-year sentence will expire next October. Before then, the senators said, it is "highly important that Ilse Koch receive the punishment she so justly deserves without doing further violence to long established safeguards of democratic justice."

Those who signed the report with Ferguson after lengthy closed door hearings are Senators Bricker (R-Ohio) Hoey (D-NC), R-NY), McClellan (D-Ark), O'Conor (D-Md) and Thye (R-Minn)

They agreed with Army legal authorities that Gen Lucius D Clay, who approved the reduced sentence as American military governor of Germany, should not reopen the original case and increase the sentence.

Such action is barred by American rules against "double jeopardy" and would be following the pattern of Nazi courts the report said.

But it noted that Frau Koch was tried with 30 male camp officials and inmates for crimes against non-Germans. Hence the finding that she could be tried for crimes against Germans.

Callan To Get Fire Marshal Post Again

COLUMBUS Dec 27—(AP)—Harry J Callan of Youngstown will be state fire marshal under Governor-elect Frank J Lausche.

The choice of Callan, who held the post during the previous Lausche administration in 1945 and 1946 was announced yesterday by Robert L. Mounton, who will be director of commerce in the administration.

Callan, 62 served with the Youngstown fire department 29 years, eight of them as chief. He was president of the Ohio Fire Chiefs' association in 1933 and 1934 and was also director of the International Fire Chiefs' association.

Accuse Israel Of Breaking UN Truce

PARIS Dec 27—(AP)—United Nations observers in Palestine today accused Israel of breaking the Holy Land truce by attacking Egyptian forces in Negev desert.

The charges were contained in a lengthy report to the UN security council over the signature of Ralph J Bunche, acting UN mediator in Palestine.

The report, slated for discussion by the council today, supported Egyptian complaints that Israeli forces reopened hostilities in violation of the council's truce order.

Bunche declared "I have no knowledge of any incidents which could be claimed as a provocation for the fighting in the Negev."

FEDERAL MEDICAL SERVICE CRITICIZED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—A report criticizing waste and duplication in government medical services brought a warning today from Capitol Hill against economies at the expense of veterans.

The report was drafted by a "task force" of the commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover studying governmental reorganization.

It said that this year alone more than 44 government agencies spent approximately $1,250,000,000 for health and medical services and 24,000,000 persons were taken care of by the government in some degree.

The report saw no letup in spending next year, noting that the veterans administration alone will spend as much in 1949 for medical services as all federal agencies spent for that purpose in 1948.

"The federal government is assuming uncalculated obligations without any understanding of their ultimate cost, the lack of the necessary professional manpower to carry them out, or their adverse effect upon the hospital system of the country," the report said.

It cited cases of new hospitals being built by one agency in the neighborhood of existing and unfilled hospitals operated by another agency. Dozens of federal hospitals could be closed and the patients transferred to other quarters, the committee added.

The committee said congress should "clearly define" the beneficiaries of federal aid and added "two large a part of the medical resources of the armed forces are devoted to the care of civilians, veterans and dependents of military personnel."

In a statement accompanying the report, Hoover emphasized that the task force findings "do not necessarily" represent the commission's final conclusions. The group that made the report was headed by Assistant Secretary of the Army Tracy S Voorhees.

Two More Communist Spy Couriers Sought

WASHINGTON, Dec 27—(AP)—Congressional spy investigators are looking for at least two more couriers for Communist espionage rings.

The hunt will be left over for the new session of congress as part of the unfinished business of the house un-American activities committee.

Committee members are sure in their own minds that one or more Red couriers preceded and followed Miss Elizabeth T Bentley.

"So far, we have no conclusive evidence on that point," Rep Mundt (R-SD) told reporters. "But their existence is entirely logical, and all the circumstantial evidence points in that direction.

"There still are Communists in government. So in all probability there are Communist couriers working with them.

"We believe Miss Bentley and Whittaker Chambers should be questioned again to see whether they can provide any leads as to the couriers."

Truman Gets Back To Work on Message

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. Dec 27—(AP)—President Truman got back to work today on his "state of the union" message to congress. His secretaries, Charles G Ross and Matthew J. Connelly reopened temporary White House headquarters in the Hotel Muehlebach at Kansas City after the Christmas holiday weekend.

They said Mr Truman would drive to Kansas City from his home here in mid-morning to tackle accumulated official documents and resume study on some phases of his first message to the new, Democratic-controlled congress.

Wages lost annually by factory workers due to accidents would buy a year's supply of food and clothing and pay the rent for a year for nearly 1,500,000 people.

SAYS RUSS ENSLAVED 2,000,000 GERMANS

BERLIN Dec 27—(AP)—U S Army secretary Kenneth C Royall charged today that Soviet Russia has conquered 2,000,000 Germans including a large number of women and children into forced labor camps in Russia.

Royall told a news conference the figure of 2,000,000 does not include prisoners of war.

He said intelligence reports show 13,000,000 persons are held in Russian forced labor camps. He previously had announced this figure in a speech in New York as it is sent.

Royall said the 13,000,000 include 8,000,000 Russians, 2,000,000 Germans and 3,000,000 of other nationalities such as Poles and Czechoslovaks.

Royall was questioned closely by newsmen on the accuracy of his figures. If 2,000,000 Germans are held in the Russian camps, it would mean the Russians on the average have taken 1,000 Germans a day from their zone of Germany since the war ended.

Royall was asked about a published report in Washington that General Walter Bedell Smith will replace Lucius D Clay as American military governor in Germany. He replied: "There has been no decision to change commanders in Germany and there has been no recent request for relievement by the present one."

Royall is nearing the end of a tour of U S Army installations in Europe and the Mediterranean.

Antique Shock Machine To Cure Colds Found

NEW LEBANON, N. Y.—(UP)—An antique dealer's search of a New Lebanon barn turned up an electric "shocking machine" used by the Shakers more than 100 years ago to treat coughs and colds.

The strange "therapeutic device consists of a glass cylinder that generates static electricity by turning against a chamois pad. It is considered the most complete example of its kind. The only other known specimen, incomplete, is in the New York State Museum in Albany.

Reference to the "shocking machine" were found in an 1827 journal of the Shakers, a religious sect.

REPORTS ON PAY OF OHIO TEACHERS

Almost One-Third Get Less Than $2,400 a Year.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 27—(AP)—Some 28 per cent of Ohio's public school teachers make less than $2,400 a year, an Ohio Education association reports showed today.

The report, results of a survey, was announced on the eve of the CEA's annual convention which opens here today.

T. G. O'Keefe, OEA research director, said the survey disclosed one-half of the teachers in the state receive salaries of less than $2,774.

The typical teacher, he said, receives $90 more than he or she did a year ago, or an increase of 3.3 per cent.

During the annual meeting, 800 teachers and administrators will act on legislation proposals by the OEA executive committee. These include a temporary cost-of-living salary increase of $225 a year per teacher. Margaret Boyd of Steubenville, OEA president, will present the legislative recommendations at the second general session Monday night.

In 92 per cent of Ohio's school districts elementary teachers are paid on an equal basis with high school teachers, provided training and experience are equal, O'Keefe said.

He said most of the lower teacher salaries prevail in the elementary field. O'Keefe attributed this differential to the fact high school teachers generally possess more training than do elementary teachers.

About 96 per cent of the high school teachers in Ohio have college degrees while more than half of the elementary teachers do not, he added.

Thirty-eight per cent of the elementary teachers receive less than $2,400 per year compared with 13 per cent of the high school instructors who get $2,400 or less.

Critical shortages are in the elementary field, the report continued. The state department of education estimated at least 3,000 additional elementary teachers are needed yearly for the next five years in Ohio. Last year, 851 were graduated from all the state's colleges and universities.

TO EXTEND PARK

COLUMBUS, Dec. 27—(AP)—The state conservation division plans to spend $244,000 in further development of the Cowans creek lake project in Clinton county in 1949-50 it disclosed today. The division said it would ask the legislature to appropriate that sum to develop park facilities. The 700-acre lake which will be completed next spring. Approximately 1,000 acres of land surround it.

About 72 per cent of U. S. motion picture theaters are in towns of 50,000 population or over.

HELP FAMILY OF SLAIN POLICEMAN

BARBERTON, O Dec 27—(AP)—The family of a patrolman who was slain by a robber on Christmas eve will get some help.

A committee of business men began canvassing the city today to build up a fund for Mrs Margaret Gerek and her 13-year-old daughter, Martha.

Patrolman Vincent Gerek and another officer were called to the scene of a supermarket holdup Friday evening. Gerek was shot by Brownie Godlewski of Peninsula, O., who had obtained $60 in the holdup. The other officer then shot and killed Godlewski.

The first contributions were $200 from the Beacon Journal Fund, Inc., and $100 from the Fraternal Order of Police Associates.

Funeral services for Gerek will be held tomorrow morning in Saints Cyril and Methodius Catholic church.

They Break the Ice

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—THERE are two times in the year when the skyscraper prisoners dare to break the pattern.

They try to know each other then—at Christmas party and a New Year's party.

The parties are held in the offices where they work, where in anonymous ways they have spent the year "doing the king's work all the dim day long," to borrow a phrase from Ogden Nash.

Hal Boyle

It is then that the little folk who labor in the big skyscrapers make their daring investment in fellowship.

All the months through they have worked side by side together, sharing their tasks but know each other no more than two cogs swimming in an equal oil.

And then some courageous exponent of seasonal cheer says on the day before Christmas or New Year's:

"Let's throw a party — right here, before we go home."

Well, that's a big adventure here in the brave concrete caverns of old New York. Because that means they have to break the pattern of their year-long anonymity. A few hold back and say, "no, I have to go home early. Got to help trim the tree."

But most of them have an eager desire to suspend "business as usual." Ambushed by good will, they want to know each other. To them a party in the office is as exciting as a picnic on a battlefield — and that, of course, is exactly what it is.

The prettiest stenographer circulates an envelope bearing this legend:

"Now is the time for all good men (and gals) to come to the aid of the party."

SO THE HIRED HANDS grin and put their ready cash into the envelope. And when it bulges like Santa Claus, somebody takes it across the street and buys "the makings" sandwiches, soda, ginger ale, and the golden fluid that makes a human race take off his inhibitions and put on his personality.

The parties are of two kinds. In small offices the boss and the hired hands have the party together—like a lieutenant and his platoon sharing a bottle in an interlude between battles.

But in big offices the celebrations are more like those in an army headquarters. They break up into two parties. The "officers" go where they can be alone together as men with stars on their shoulders always are.

• • •

AND THE "ENLISTED" MEN stay behind and hold the fort for an afternoon of frolic. The freedom from the day's usual drudgery is an intoxication in itself.

They peel off their repressions. They brazenly grouse out loud at the straw boss they have been holding secret opinions about all year long. Then somebody turns softy and says, "well, it could be worse — they might have a smart guy to take his place." So they take up a collection to buy him a present.

By now they begin to feel they know each other a little — and they like the feeling. Amour even raises an unexpected head. The mousy, middle-aged bookkeeper makes a few uncertain passes at the pretty stenographer. And the office boy, a sudden Galahad, sternly squires her home. Ah, youth—youth!

The bonfire of the heart wears down as night falls, and the party breaks up. But the office staff carry home something of the skyscraper's sky-reach in their souls. For a part of one day they have broken the pattern in gladness.

CRAWFORD CHILDREN HOME PROGRAMS END

Last of 10 Carol-Sings Held Thursday Night.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 27—A program presented by Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church, Galion, the Crestline High school a cappella choir, and two Galion vocalists, Mrs. W. W. Koppe and Mrs. Carl Freeman, closed the series of ten Christmas programs at the Crawford County Children's Home, here, Thursday night.

Beautifully lighted on the front lawn of the Home, the programs were sent out over an amplifier system so that they were heard for several blocks by crowds who motored out to the Home each evening. They were planned and arranged by Marvin O. Adams, superintendent of the Home.

The program Thursday night opened with Scripture and prayer by Rev. Elliker, a group of two numbers by Mrs. Carl Freeman, soprano, with Harriet Ebert at the piano, and two selections by Mrs. W. W. Koppe, soprano, was accompanied by Mrs. Gregg Pennington, of Crestline.

Under the direction of Mrs. Pennington, the 63 voices of the a cappella choir of Crestline High school sang the following numbers: Hallelujah to the Lord, Christiansen; Sleep Holy Babe; Snow; Rise Up Shepherds and Follow, a spiritual; Carol of the Bells, a Ukranian folk song; Jingle Bells, arranged by Marlow; and Irving Berlin's "White Christmas." Silent Night was the recessional number.

Makes Home of Blocks And Old School Buses

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec. 27—Emery Neate, a garage employe here, will greet the New Year in a new home after several months residence in a trailer. Employing the bodies of two trade-in school buses, a few concrete blocks and considerable ingenuity, he has constructed his new home with each of the two rear rooms formed by the busses opening into a living room of blocks facing the street.

Since he is a bachelor Mr. Neate expected to be able to move in and "get settled" in a very short time. Use of the bodies, Mr. Neate said, saved him a considerable amount of time and money.

Professor Joins Group In Protest of Draft

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Prof. Ralph Temple of Wilmington college, Wilmington, O., joined some 325 persons yesterday in declaring the government should stop prosecuting youths who defy the draft.

The group, including many ministers, said in a statement if the government continues to prosecute draft evaders it should also prosecute "people like ourselves," who promote disobedience. The statement was released by the Peacemakers, a pacifist organization.

Signers of the statement included ministers, educators and others from all parts of the nation. Most of them were from the midwest and middle Atlantic states.

The Old-timers KNOW!

If you really want to know about Marion people, Marion firms, and Marion in general, ask the old-timers! They've been around long enough to learn from the ground up; to check pretense against fact, to compare promises with performance.

For years, we have suggested to young people and newcomers that they consult an old-timer before selecting a funeral director, and that the inquiry be made in advance of necessity. We'll be perfectly content to have you judge us by what any of the old-timers will tell you about Schaffner-Denzer service.

Learn Russian Ways By Force in Germany

[illegible] Moscow building a Communist bastion in Germany? What is happening to 20,000,000 [illegible] under Russian occupation? Here in the [illegible] three articles are [illegible] behind the iron curtain [illegible] Elbe.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Dec. 27—(AP)—Eastern Germany is learning the hard way [illegible] to live like the Russians.

[illegible] and a half years of [illegible] on the Soviet Union has [illegible] imposition on 20,000,000 [illegible] between the Elbe and [illegible] rivers.

[illegible] of Moscow [illegible] transformed the politics and [illegible] this war-shattered [illegible] Dressed up in a Teutonic [illegible] and paying lip-service to [illegible] Communist dogma [illegible] the population virtually [illegible] cradle to the grave.

Results [illegible] are as plain to see as the towers of the Kremlin. They include:

A one-party state [illegible] a ruthless police force liquidating [illegible] private enterprise, creation of [illegible] collective) farming unswerving obedience to Russia in foreign affairs.

Fog Dispelled

The cold war has dispelled much fog surrounding Russia's aims in Germany. The pattern is much the same as in other satellites in eastern Europe. But the time table is different.

No minor red state has yet reached the Bolshevist perfection Russia herself. That's what the commission says. But some are more advanced than others.

Because of the attempt at full power control in Germany after the war, the Soviet occupation zone has lagged far behind Bulgaria, for example, in approaching Stalin's principles.

Since the breakdown of Allied relations, the German Communists have thrown off their wraps. They know where they are going, and they are no longer minicing words.

The Russian military command now bans western foreign correspondents from touring its zone. In early 1946 the first press tour was permitted. Richard Kasischke of The Associated Press reported measures smacking of Moscow Communism were being applied. His account was criticized in some foreign newspaper quarters as "unsubstantiated."

No Argument Now

There's no argument about it today.

Berlin is a broad window 100 miles behind the iron curtain. Communists sometimes forget they are so closely observed. From their own newspapers, you can piece together the picture of eastern Germany.

Literally tons of reports are issued annually by the western allies regarding all phases of their occupation of western Germany. The Soviet command has never issued one.

The allies are still disputing among themselves over occupation aims. The Soviets can enjoy the luxury of silence, if they wish. Their mind is made up.

For German consumption, Russia hammers away on the theme that she alone of the great powers is ready to make a peace treaty for all of Germany and withdraw her troops within a year afterward.

German Communist newspapers hail the creation of a north Korea people's republic and the Soviet military evacuation which took place there in 1948. Denunciations are heaped on American troops for remaining in south Korea.

They draw a parallel between Korea and Germany.

At the very least, a Communist republic of eastern Germany is the prospect. Perhaps it will come as early as April or May. It will challenge any unification of western Germany sponsored by the U. S., Britain and France.

One of Russia's dreams is that all Germany will ultimately go Communist.

To judge the chances of that, however, you don't need a Berlin window. You need a crystal ball.

Primitive Politics

GEORGE M. HUMPHREY, chairman of the M A Hanna Coal Co, has made an observation in London about European politics that his neighbors back home have made countless times about the American brand.

"Everywhere I have been," said the Ohio industrialist, after touring in France, Germany and England, "I have found people ready and willing to work. The spirit is there. They'd like to get to work, but politics distracts their attention."

In the United States, blessed with enough technical know-how to do almost anything under the sun, politics is in the same primitive state that everything else was in 150 years ago. Improvements so advanced they seem too good to be true sometimes must be shelved because they are in conflict with politics so reactionary they scarcely can be comprehended by enlightened persons.

There has been nothing new in politics for generations. One of the newest ideas, Adolph Hitler's "big life," was merely an adaptation of a political trick practiced for thousands of years. In the latest presidential election the same familiar things were done which had been customary for half a century—a circumstance that may help to account for the lightness of the vote. No one is more aware than politicians are that they need to offset a growing conviction that they merely impede progress with their rantings and ravings.

The Better Part

IF CALENDAR reformers ever have their way, all holidays eventually will fall on weekends. They can point to Christmas this year as a perfect example.

No imagination is needed to believe that the better part of the two-day celebration was the part that came on Sunday. Families were together. There was a second Christmas dinner to enjoy, a second chance to eat too many Christmas sweets.

Most fathers had an uninterrupted session with junior's mechanical toys, if they survived Christmas day. Slippers and smoking jackets were tried out. Travelers had an extra day of leeway. Another yule log was burned, perhaps an extra nap sandwiched in during the afternoon.

It always would be this way if the calendar reformers could get a green light for their proposal. Meanwhile, we hope they had a Merry Christmas too.

Red Apparatus

THANKS to repeated use in testimony in the Chambers-Hiss hearings, the word "apparatus," to describe what Communists use to carry on their conspiracy in this country, is assured of widespread adoption. It bobs up again in the report of the house of representatives labor subcommittee on Communist control of the strategically situated United Electrical Workers. In the report, the Communist party of the United States is called a "sinister apparatus controlled from abroad."

The word is excellent, because it carries with it a sense of something contrived to carry out a specified purpose. The Communist party certainly is not to be compared with a political party. Nor is it merely an organization working in politics. But on the other hand, it's not quite a conspiracy, because it works in the open and its aims are widely known and understood. "Apparatus," which comes from a Latin root meaning "to make ready," exactly describes what Communists do. They try to make the United States ready for seizure by international conspirators with headquarters in the Kremlin.

Municipal Sliver

WHEN delegates to the annual convention of American Municipal association—the big get-together of the mayors—finished their palavering in Washington recently they had reached one conclusion:

That cities must raise more money or perish.

The situation can be described by remembering what a pie looks like when cut into four equal pieces. Before the beginning of federal spending under New Deal theories of statism, cities used to eat one-fourth of the pie or in this case the taxpayer's dollar. Other local governments also ate a fourth, with a little to spare. The states ate a fourth with a little taken off the edges and the federal government ate a fourth.

Today, the federal government takes three pieces of the pie and lets all other government split the rest. True, it sometimes can be wheedled into giving some of its portion, but as the mayor of Jeepers Junction said to the mayor of Big Town the other day, "What do they think we are, orphans?"

Municipalities are not orphans. They are places where millions of people live and do the work that makes it possible for the federal government to spend millions while they scratch for thousands to maintain essential functions. But cities are under a terrific handicap. When they ask taxpayers for a few more dollars, the taxpayers frequently say no. When the federal government wants a few more billions it doesn't need to ask; it just passes another appropriation bill.

The Story of Steel

By David Lawrence

Corporation's Finance Statement Also Is News

WASHINGTON

WHEN Phil Murray of the CIO charges that corporation profits are too high and that there must be an excess profits tax or that prices must come down, that's news and it gets headlines which is, of course, correct. But, when management tells the other side of the story—it doesn't seem to be news. At least that is what must be inferred from an examination of a large number of American newspapers and press association dispatches apropos of the testimony submitted on Tuesday of last week by the U. S. Steel Corporation, one of the largest companies in the country.

True enough, the statement submitted by E. M. Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee of U. S. Steel, was many thousands of words long and it had along with it many statistical tables and computations to corroborate the points made before the senate subcommittee investigating the profit problem. But the comprehensiveness of the statement and its voluminous character did not prevent anyone who cared to do so from selecting the really significant points made by Mr. Voorhees which had never been disclosed before and hence were news.

• • •

THUS IT WAS revealed that, in the first nine months of 1948, U. S. Steel produced almost exactly the same number of net tons of steel as it did in the entire 12 months of 1940. This coincidence provided an opportunity to make a remarkable comparison.

"In the first nine months of 1948," testified Mr. Voorhees, "U. S. Steel received from customers $1,754,000,000. This was $675,600,000 or 62.6 per cent more than was received for approximately similar quantities of goods and services in 1940.

"The question is who got what proportions of that $675,600,000. The answer is readily obtainable by comparing the cost aggregates for the two periods."

The computations are then given and they show that the increase due to added payroll and higher wages amounted to $275,000,000 and the increase due to purchases of goods and materials amounted to $347,500,000, while taxes showed an increase of $45,700,000. Hence these three items accounted for $668,200,000 out of the increased income from sales, leaving $7,400,000 of the increased income to be explained.

BUT THE INCREASED cost of wear and exhaustion of tools that have to be replaced when they wear out was estimated for the first nine months of 1948 to be at least $33,600,000 more than was allocated for the same item for the entire year of 1940, so it is apparent that these "wear and tear" items which are destined to be spent mostly as wages when the replacement is ordered far exceeded the amount of the increased money available to meet costs.

"This evidence," says Mr. Voorhees, "indicates that wages and taxes are primarily responsible for U. S. Steel's higher prices."

Taking the amount actually earned in the first nine months of 1948, approximately $51,500,000 was paid in dividends to the total of tens of thousands of stockholders as compared with $60,000,000 in the entire year 1940. About $36,500,000 was left out of profits to meet in part an expenditure of $200,400,000 spent to increase production facilities and replace worn-out tools and to pay off $2,000,000 in debts that came due. Toward this big item of replacement and expansion expenditures there was available $165,900,000 from the "wear and exhaustion" fund but even with this added, the depreciation fund fell short by $58,000,000 of furnishing the amount needed to pay the bill and this sum, of course, had to come out of earnings of previous years.

• • •

"SUCH FACTS," said Mr. Voorhees, "should dispel any notion that profits and especially profits after dividends represent a block to the flow of purchasing power."

What Mr. Voorhees might have added was that here is a picture of what happens to profits in one of America's largest industrial corporations and that many thousands if not millions of workers directly and indirectly are kept in their jobs because the profits are plowed back into the business so as to get more steel produced for the tremendous demand of our times.

It is a fascinating story of the responsibilities imposed on American business under the profit-and-loss system. But somehow because it is statistical and because it doesn't happen to prove the points made, it tends to disprove radicalism's main thesis today, it doesn't seem to get wide currency even in the press which is supposed to give both sides of the fateful debate over the future course of the private-enterprise system in America.

The Republican Quarrel

By George E. Sokolsky

IT IS not unexpected that the Republican defeat should have brought dissension to the party, which never quite became as unified as the campaign indicated. It is not merely a matter of "liberal" and "conservative." It is more a question of how to keep in office.

Like any other political party, the Republicans have in their midst dyed-in-the-wool brethren, whose fathers and grandfathers were Republicans, who have a creed which is not opportunistic, who will fight for the party win or lose; and there are also opportunists who for one reason or another find it more advantageous to themselves to build their careers on a Republican rather than a Democratic basis. Actually, the latter group could, with little difficulty, be Democrats, New Dealers, Socialists or anything, if it meant getting on.

The movement for the so-called "liberalizing" of the Republican party is not based on ideas, beliefs, political creeds. It is largely based on figures. It is a statistical response to the challenge of defeat.

• • •

THE ARGUMENT runs thus: "The Republicans have now been defeated five times in succession for the presidency. The reason is that the country has changed faster than Republican leadership. Whereas the country has tended in the direction of state socialism, the Republicans insist upon a die-hard capitalistic individualism.

American youth—the new voter—who have reached voting age, if not political maturity, under the New Deal know not the Harding and Coolidge prosperities nor the era of Mark Hanna. Nor do they recall the liberalism of Abraham Lincoln or the hectic days of Theodore Roosevelt.

"They only know the word 'security.' They will vote for anyone who will give them more of the pabulum called security. The Democrats have been able to package security better than the Republicans. Ergo, get a new package."

That argument runs through all the conversations. Of course the smarter politicians do not put it as crassly as I have in the above summary, but when the camouflage of wordage is ripped away and the central idea exposes itself, it is pretty much as I have described it.

HUGH SCOTT, the junior member of congress who runs the Republican national committee, faces this dissatisfaction among the liberalizers. They generally oppose him first because Governor Dewey appointed him, secondly, because he comes from Pennsylvania, the land of Grundy and Pew; thirdly, because they would like to take over the machinery of the party to run it themselves; and finally because they do not believe that the present management can win in 1950 and 1952.

Certain elements joined the Republican party in the 1940 campaign in the atmosphere of Wendell Willkie's prospective victory. Many of them were ex-New Dealers who either were distressed by the extremes of some of their associates, or were dropped by Mr. Roosevelt for one reason or another. They hoped to make the Republican party an imitative New Deal but slightly less so. The result, of course, has been "me-too-ism."

The Taft-Hartley act brought the matter to a head. Senator Taft's leadership has been on a high intellectual plane with a total rejection of opportunism. Taft is politically tough and unyielding. He fights for a clearly definable concept of American social and economic doctrine. When he is told that his way can only lead to defeat, he smilingly assumes that defeat is the least of evils. Hypocrisy, lying, chicanery are to him infinitely worse.

• • •

IT IS GOING to be interesting to watch this fight. Hugh Scott will not voluntarily give up his job. He is going to fight for it and to try to make of it more than an interim clerical position. He will be resisted but he will fight to rebuild his party on a basis of ideas and principles. The real trouble is that both parties are so disorganized and their membership so individualistic that no one in them is bound by any declaration of principle. These are not membership parties but congeries of local leadership, mechanisms for elections, not organizations to propagate ideas.

The current quarrels in both parties bring to a head a long overdo inquiry as to whether a party exists around a statement of principle or merely to get jobs.

Conflict of Interests

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON

HOW President Truman won the election is a story now seven weeks old. But it is brought back to present importance by the approach of the new congress—which was elected with Mr. Truman, which has a decisive majority belonging to his party, and which, it has been assumed, will follow his leadership and carry out the commitments he made in his campaign. Whether congress actually will follow his leadership and for how long, whether it will or can carry out all his commitments, composes a question facing Mr. Truman, and also the country.

As the question comes nearer, there has been on Mr. Truman's part evidence of an occasional mood that takes account of it, that realizes a difference between buoyantly making and implying commitments in a campaign, and coming face to face with carrying them out. Following the election, Mr. Truman was exuberant, almost to the point of cockiness, and still has that attitude as respects his sensational victory, largely a personal triumph achieved by his own efforts. But there is evidence that on occasions when Mr. Truman realizes the immense burden of the obligations he has taken on, some of them inherent in the circumstances and others arising from promises made or implied during the campaign, the mood of exuberance is displayed by one of seriousness and humility. But also there is public evidence that Mr. Truman sticks to statements he made during his campaign, even ones that are now plainly a detriment to him, such as repetition of the epithet "red herring" about actions of the house committee on American activities. In the net, it is hardly to be doubted that Mr. Truman will strive to have congress carry out the campaign commitments and implications.

• • •

IN THE CAMPAIGN, Mr. Truman's appeal was conspicuously to two groups, labor and farmers. Of these he said, in the speech to the Democratic national convention in which he accepted their nomination of him, that labor and farmers could be expected to support him, because if they did not they would be "the most ungrateful people in the world." Afterward, during the campaign, Mr. Truman made to these groups especially strong appeals, including promises. After his victory, Mr. Truman emphasized the part in it by two cabinet members whom he singled out as having given especially effective support, the two secretaries who are symbols of labor and agriculture.

Some of the promises Mr. Truman made to the two groups were specific—to labor, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act; to farmers, increased facilities for price support of farm crops, specifically the building by the government of storage bins for grain. Through the specific promises, through the atmosphere created by them and through the broad nature of Mr. Truman's campaign as a whole, there arose on the part of labor and farmers expectation that the Truman administration would have a favorable attitude toward them and their desires and proposals generally.

A present proposal of labor leaders, not legislative or strongly affecting the public interest, is for another round of wage raises, which would be the fourth since Mr. Truman became President. On the part of farm leaders there is, of course, expectation that Mr. Truman's specific promises will be carried out. In general, the attitude of farm leaders, though with some exceptions, and of members of congress who give special consideration to farmers as a group, is one which calls for thoroughgoing carrying out of the policy of price support for farm crops, in some cases for a change that would bring about support at a higher price than is provided for the future in the existing law.

• • •

IF MR. TRUMAN, in exercising leadership in the coming congress, and in his attitude generally, should give support or sympathy to all the desires of labor and farmers, he would run directly counter to any prospect of arresting the wage-price spiral. The labor proposal for a new round of wage raises, while not a legislative matter, would, if successful, set the spiral in motion automatically. In many experiences during the past three years, wage raises have been followed by increases in the prices of manufactured goods. This, if it should take place now, would automatically set price support for farm crops, and hence the price of food, in upward motion. For the price support law calls on the department of agriculture to compute the cost of the goods farmers buy, and on that basis decree the price at which farm crops are to be supported.

Thus is posed, before Mr. Truman and the coming session of the new congress, a conflict between the interest of the country as a whole, and the special interests of the two groups to whom most of the appeal of the campaign was made.

Nylon from Peat

By The Associated Press

WARSAW—Polish chemical engineers claim they have found a way to make nylon stockings from peat. Two chemists employed in the coal industry institute at Biskupice are working on a method of extracting phenol from peat.

The semi-official newspaper "Rzeczpospolita" said "phenol is an essential ingredient in the production of nylon. So far, phenol was obtained from hard coal but peat proved a much better raw material, having three times more phenol than hard coal."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

More Money for the President

It is proposed that the salary of the President of the United States be raised to $[illegible] with another $100,000 for an expense [illegible]. He now gets $75,000 [illegible] $40,000 for [illegible].

• • •

What's wrong with the idea? It's the toughest job in the country. The [illegible] in fact they never end. The President can't even get complete rest and quiet on his Saturdays and Sundays. And his vacations are [illegible].

• • •

In other big jobs there is still a chance for advancement. But where can a President go after he is through. He is lucky to get on a Talent Scout radio program.

• • •

What is $100,000 a year today? Second and third grade movie stars get more than that for one picture. And they can use a bazooka on the tough spots Harry Truman can't do that. If a situation calls for him going over the precipice on horseback he has to go it in person. He can't even send in the vice president.)

• • •

The worst that can happen to a movie actor in his fights is that he will get run out of a night club or a table. If a President knew nothing except that that could happen to him in his struggles he would sign for it and give a rebate.

• • •

Radio performers get more than $100,000 a year. And somebody else writes their jokes. A President has to be funny on his own.

• • •

And a radio star can always cover up by dragging on a ventriloquist, a wooden dummy, four pretty bad female singers or a couple of other quaint characters.

• • •

There may be some big business men who worry along on $100,000 a year, but they don't have to kiss strange babies, grin from locomotive cabs, join Indian tribes, go fishing when they don't want to or pose in loud shirts on tropical beaches.

• • •

Even golfers get $100,000 a year and no putt they sink is tougher than the ones a President is supposed to knock into the cup every time up.

• • •

Even horses get more than that kind of dough. Citation, Stymie and Armed earn more per year. Is that fair to a President?

• • •

And why should $100,000 a year for expenses seem high these days. A President of the United States is entitled to eat meat, buy an auto and get a haircut and shave now and then like anybody else.

Oh, Prince, so innocent and small,
So very much beloved by all,
May joy attend you all your life
Though born in time of stress and strife,
And in a palace, not a stable.
May you do all that you are able
To help us "grown-ups" find again
The road to peace, good will to men.

No Children

By Truman Twill

As to children being hard on rented property and thereby making it tough for their mamas and papas to find a place to live—a matter which is driving many parents to the point of despair—where did the idea come from that adults are any bargain?

It's not children but adults who let cigarets burn themselves out on wooden surfaces, who set the house or apartment afire by smoking in bed, who knock the doors off garages and start fireplace fires with the dampers closed and smoke up the wallpaper.

Children are not guilty of knocking off king-size chunks of plaster by driving nails in walls to hang heavy mirrors and pictures, but adults are. It's not kids who knock over pots of hot coffee on varnished surfaces who let rubbish accumulate in backyards and who drive automobiles over soft lawns.

No child ever was guilty of making whoopee at 3 a. m. in the morning and bringing the police to the scene. Nor did any child ever ruin a roof by trying to nail up a radio aerial on it without knowing what he was doing. And it isn't kids who fall behind in rent payments either.

A damage survey by U. S. Public Housing Authority shows there are eight major types of damage to rented properties chargeable to adults—letting bathtubs overflow, breaking oven doors, leaving windows open in rainstorms, starting fires with amateur electrical repairs, ruining window sills with blistering hot dishes, stopping up drains with garbage, breaking oven doors and banging furniture. Children, on the other hand, are charged with only two major types of damage—marring doorways and baseboards with scooters, and defacing wallpaper. As far as PHA is concerned, it will take children in preference to adults any time. But unfortunately it's not children who are looking for places to rent.

What it adds up to is that children have been made the whipping boys and girls for owners of renting property whose real complaint is not against children per se but against human beings. As the owners see it, the fewer people on the premises the less wear and tear, so they just specify "no children," to throw in no dogs or cats for good measure and that's that. They can't very well specify "no adults."

Fortunately, the human instinct to have children is stronger than the discrimination against them. Owners of property for rent are assured of an adequate supply of former children who will become adult tenants in the future. But it will become adult tenants in the future. But it will become adult tenants in the future. But it as well as hears himself talk by facing a large mirror during instruction, to check usually his formation of words.

WRECKED PLANE ON GREENLAND ICECAP. This is an airview of the C-47 plane which cracked up 14 days ago on the Greenland icecap stranding its crew of seven men. The igloo and shelters (at right) built by the men keep off some of the subzero 100-mile-an-hour winds. Four other men who attempted the rescue of the crew of the C-47 are now also stranded on the icecap after their rescue planes crash landed in the same vicinity. The square patch at right is the canvas roof to one of the shelters dug into the ice. Army planes have been dropping supplies to the stranded men until they can be rescued.

Radio-Phonograph Used

An important piece of equipment employed for instruction in the hard of hearing class is a large portable radio-phonograph combination for playing instruction records. This $300 machine, the finest obtainable, was given the city school system by the Altrusa club.

All instruction given in the hard of hearing class is of a special nature designed to permit the students to continue their studies in regular classroom periods along with other students. Special tutoring of hard of hearing students is done, however, by Miss Witt, employing amplifying equipment to make instruction of the student easy.

Each student receives a half hour's training in lip reading each day. This enables him to understand his instructor in a regular classroom, even though he cannot hear. Three members of the hard of hearing class do hear normally in all classrooms with individual hearing aids of their own. Many of the students in the class have only a partial hearing loss in one or both ears and with a knowledge of lip reading, to augment their remaining hearing ability they easily keep pace with their classmates.

Open to County Students

Admission to the hard of hearing class is ordered for any student of county schools whose need of such instruction becomes apparent through periodic audiographic examinations given all city and county school pupils as a check for new cases of deafness. During the last week of school before Christmas holidays such hearing tests were given all third and fifth grade students of county schools by Miss Betty Jordan, hearing consultant of the state health department, under the joint sponsorship of the Marion county school system and the Marion county health department.

The hard of hearing class is supported by state and local school department funds. As in all special school classes under state supervision, students are served hot lunches daily at state expense.

Value Is Proved

The hard of hearing class, although an innovation in school training here, has already proved itself a distinct advantage to school instruction.

"People are just now becoming hearing conscious," Miss Witt said, when asked about parental response to her class. "When they have seen it in operation and see what this type of instruction can do I am sure that a great part of the skepticism and unenthusiasm is as great as that of the students themselves at the present time will be overcome."

Lapses in [illegible] arrangements [illegible] creating the class was Lester L. Dicus, [illegible] of Marion city schools. It [illegible] and active attitude [illegible] instruction for hard-of-hearing students. Mr. Dicus says he is well satisfied with the progress of the hard of hearing class and expressed his earnest wish that [illegible] facilities be extended to permit as many handicapped students as possible to take it.

After visiting the class in action seeing the happy expressions on the students faces and the eager manner in which they follow their teacher's instructions, can honestly add [illegible] wish that every student who is deaf should enjoy this instruction.

Beer and Wine Store And Cafe Burglarized

Two burglaries [illegible] the weekend are under investigation today by the Marion county sheriff's department.

The first occurred [illegible] Christmas day at the M [illegible] beer and wine carry-out store located on North Main street near the city line. Entry was gained by breaking in the rear door. About $2 in pennies was reported missing and the rear door shattered.

The second was reported to have occurred sometime between 6 and 9 a. m. yesterday at the Maplewood inn on route 4 about a quarter-mile south of the city limits. Mrs. Dorothy Drake of Marion owner, reported that about $20 had been taken from a money changer. Entry had been made by forcing the back door in a similar manner to that in the previous instance. Little else was disturbed in either case.

Havana has 33 radio stations, believed to be more than any other city in the world.

"Buick's the Buy!"

EVER since this '49 Buick made its bow, we've been telling you it's a buy.

We've invited you to match it—feature by feature and dollar for dollar—with anything else offered to you. You can start with the delivered prices shown here.

But don't stop with that. Check the policy under which Buicks are sold—and see for yourself that Buick means a better deal as well as a better buy!

Briefly, our Four-Square sales policy is this:

1. NO PRICE PADDING! We guarantee our prices to contain nothing but charges that were standard practice in figuring prewar delivered prices. You receive an itemized bill of sale showing all charges. And we display our prices in our showroom.
2. NO "LOADING" OF UNWANTED ACCESSORIES. All cars are delivered with accessories as ordered. We pledge ourselves to add no "extras" you do not want.
3. NO COMPULSORY TRADE-INS. Selling used cars is part of our business. Naturally we like to take cars in trade. But you do not have to sell your car to us! We will take your order, and deliver your car, without requiring a car in trade!
4. NO COLLUSION WITH "GRAY MARKETEERS." We will not knowingly be party to a sale of Buick cars to any individual who operates in the "gray market." Our interest is entirely in delivering cars to bona fide customers.

In other words—you know exactly where you stand when you buy a Buick. What you get—what you pay—all the details of the deal open and aboveboard.

So we repeat: Check the price. Check the policy. Buick's the buy any way you want to look at it.

10 BEST DRESSED WOMEN SELECTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—A one-time fashion editor—who stresses simplicity in dress—tops the list of the 10 best dressed women of 1948 named by the New York Dress Institute.

She is Mrs. William Paley, the former Barbara Cushing Mortimer, wife of the head of the Columbia Broadcasting System. A modest young woman, Mrs. Paley detests the term "clothes horse" and buys only one or two new outfits each season.

The annual selection of best dressed women by the institute is based on a poll of 150 fashion editors and designers around the country.

Others chosen included:

Mrs. Milicent Rogers, the Duchess of Windsor, Mrs. Andre Embiricos (the former Beatrice Amidon), Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt; Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr. (the former Austine Cassini of Washington and New York), Mrs. Harrison Williams, the Duchess of Kent, Mme. Louis Arpels of Hollywood and Mrs. Howard Hawks of Hollywood.

Five other women, although receiving sufficient votes to rate the top 10, were placed in a special category because they are fashion designers themselves, or closely connected with the fashion industry.

They are:

Mrs. Adam Gimbel (Sophie, the dress designer), Mrs. George Schlee (Valentina, the dress designer), Gene Tierney (wife of designer Oleg Cassini), Janet Gaynor Adrian (wife of Adrian, Hollywood designer), and Mrs. John C. Wilson (the former Princess Paley, associated with Mainbocher, the designer).

Delay Hearing Of Galion Injunction Suit

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 27—Hearing on the injunction request filed against the city Galion and the Ohio Public Service company scheduled to come before Crawford County Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl today, has been taken out of assignment.

The request had been filed by John P. Drouth, Galion taxpayer, as a protest measure against city council action to contract with the Ohio Public Service company for power to supplement the supply from the city light and power plant.

George Davies, Galion city solicitor, said Judge Ahl had acted after attorneys for the city, the power company and the taxpayers had reached a mutual agreement to postpone legal action until after the first of the year.
